

COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES, EDUCATION AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

Since its founding in 1945, the college has been the core of the educational environment at Roosevelt University. The college instructs students in the critical, cultural, and technological literacies that enable them to create satisfying lives as professionals, citizens, and private individuals. Courses are offered in the traditional arts, education disciplines and sciences as well as in emerging professional and technical fields. The college provides opportunities for students to fulfill general education requirements and complete majors leading to bachelor's degrees, and it prepares them for admission to professional and graduate schools.

The College of Humanities, Education and Social Sciences offers undergraduate programs leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Students should consult the catalog page for their major to see their General Education requirements, which are listed along with other detailed requirements for the major.

Further Requirements for Degrees in the College of Humanities, Education and Social Sciences

Course Work at the 200 and 300 Level

At least 60 credit hours of work with satisfactory final grades must be completed in courses numbered 200 or higher, of which at least 18 credit hours must be in courses numbered 300 or higher.

Grade Point Average

A regular student in good standing becomes a candidate for the degree upon completion of a minimum of 120 semester hours of work with a grade point average of 2.0 or higher at Roosevelt University. Students are also responsible for checking the grade point average requirements of their majors. All teacher candidates in the Department of Education for teacher licensure must maintain a minimum 2.7 comprehensive GPA for their degrees.

Majors

Students are urged to declare a major during their sophomore year and to consult their academic advisors regularly.

Maximum Hours in the Major

At least 69 credit hours must be completed outside the student's major. Note that some majors require additional hours outside the major.

Minors

Many students choose a minor to complement their major. Students can complete a minor outside of the College of Humanities, Education and Social Sciences. Specific requirements for these minors are listed in the relevant section of this catalog. Students should see their academic advisors for recommendations and approval.

Shared Coursework

- Major credits can be shared with CORE Ideas and Experiential Learning courses, if designated as such by the program

- Major credits may not be shared with CORE credits toward other general education requirements in Communication, Mathematics, Natural Science, Social Science, and Humanities
- Credits cannot be shared between a major and a minor
- Credits can be shared between CORE (General Education) requirements and a minor